

Be confident about your future

Critical Illness Insurance

Screenings and checkups help us keep our health on track, even if we try to avoid them. Maybe we're even worried about what the results will show. After all, it's not just our health on the line — we want to make sure we're able to take care of our families if something happens to us.

Here's the truth: More men than ever are surviving heart attacks and other heart conditions. However, the costs of healthcare also continue to rise. Many people are turning to websites like GoFundMe to get help paying for their medical bills so they can continue to support their families.

There's a better way. Critical illness insurance will pay money directly to you should you face a serious illness like a heart attack¹, cancer or Advanced Alzheimer's disease. The policy provides money you can use any way you wish, such as:

Deductibles and copays/coinsurance

Lost income from missed work

Everyday expenses —
mortgage/rent,
utilities, childcare

Experimental treatments
and travel
